ST. AMBROSE'S CHURCH
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

ST. AMBROSE'S CHURCH, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

St. Ambrose's Church is a brick building of Romanesque architecture, seating approximately 400 persons. The building needs some refurbishing. Estimates in the Church Self-Study Form report are that this might cost $40,000.00. The parish house is attached and consists of a large gymnasium-auditorium plus some small multi-purpose rooms. The condition is reported to be fair. The vicarage is a row-house some two doors up the street from the rear of the church. It is a small three-bedroom unit reported to be in good condition, but needing some renovation.

Insurance reported is 80% of listed replacement value.

The life of this congregation began in 1880, and until 1904 the congregation used a row-house on Second Street as church and parish house.

THE CHURCH NEIGHBORHOOD

The area around St. Ambrose's Church is a combination of row-houses, apartments, factories, and stores. It is reported to have been changing for the past 15 years, with a deterioration that is accompanied by an increase of crime. The population loss is estimated to be approximately 15%.

The church buildings are located in Census Tract 33-G. The Division of Research has arbitrarily assigned eight census tracts surrounding the church properties to be a combined "parish study area". In 1960 the population of this area was 59,751 persons. Population data between 1950 and 1960 are not available for most of the census tracts, but in Census Tract 33-D there was a 10-year decline of -69.8%, while in Census Tract 33-J there was slight increase of 7.6%.

There are many children in the area except in Census Tract 33-H, where the number is moderate. The following chart gives the percentage of children under 15 years of age. It will be noted there also that the number of elderly people ranges from a very few to a significant 14.6%. The non-white population in 1960 was relatively small except in Census Tract 33-E.

The median age ranges from a very low 16.1 years to a high of almost 41 years. In most sections of the parish study area it is in the mid 30's. Details may be seen on the chart below.

The median education level is low. It is 9.6 years for the City of Philadelphia as a whole, but it is under nine years in the parish study area. The following chart will also show the percentage of adults 25 years of age and over that attended college or graduated from high school. In almost all cases the percentages are very low. This factor will probably speak to the opportunity St. Ambrose's Church has of ministering to the educational and cultural needs of the population.

In the areas where information is available it will be noted that the median family income is low. The percentage of families that lived in the same residence between 1955 and 1960 is fairly high indicating a population that does not move too much.

In 1960 there were 421 non-white persons and 107 Puerto Ricans residing in the parish study area.

At the time of the Diocesan Study there were 1,241 identifiable Episcopalians living in the eight census tracts of the parish study area. This number represents 2.1% of the 1960 population. Comparable ratios are 3.2% in the Diocese of Pennsylvania and 1.8% in the Episcopal Church nationally.

Of these 1,241 Episcopalians, 195, or 15.7%, looked to St. Ambrose's Church for spiritual guidance. This figure is 77% of the reported mapped membership of the congregation. The following chart gives the details of Episcopal distribution.

Located within the church neighborhood are one public grade school, one public junior high school, and one parochial elementary school. In addition, there are eight religious congregations, a relatively small number to serve a population as large as the area contains. Details of these schools and churches may be seen on Pages K-1 and K-3 of the Church Self-Study Form.

THE CHURCH PROGRAM

Since the Discussion and Recommendations section at the end of the Study comments extensively on the program of the parish, it will not be necessary to duplicate the comments here.

It is to be noted that this mission congregation maintains a strong Anglo-Catholic tradition and that nationally recognized church leaders have participated in special services conducted by this congregation.

Following this discussion will be found a copy of the Church Self-Study Form report. All parish leaders should read this Self-Study and note the comments, the statistics, and the "notes" that are listed.

several women attend convocational twice a year.

E. What experiments or adjustments have been made in changing the hours or the format of services? Comment on results:

For several years, during the 1950s, when the parish was larger, the program was expanded to three Sunday celebrations, the middle one, at 9 A.M., being a Family Mass, i. e., a low celebration with four hymns, five-minute instruction, etc. This was followed by breakfast. Like other measures, this attracted attention and attendance for some time; then interest waned, and we reverted to two services. After careful preparation, liturgical movement practices, e. g., the People's Offertory, were introduced, but were disliked and discontinued.

REPORTED MEMBERSHIP FROM MAPS

There were 253 persons located on the membership map submitted by this congregation. Five of them were listed as living out of state and the remainder were to be found in 20 census tracts within the City of Philadelphia. Over half of the respondents reside in the census tract in which the church buildings are located. Since 77% of the mapped membership resides in the assigned parish area St. Ambrose's Church can be classified as a neighborhood congregation.

Details of the membership distribution will be seen on the print-out that follows this discussion.

REPORTED MEMBERSHIP AND FINANCIAL DATA FROM JOURNALS

This portion of the Study is concerned with statistics taken from the Journals of the Diocese of Pennsylvania. Figures were gathered for every fifth year from 1940 through 1960 and for the next three years thereafter. Details of these vital statistics may be seen on the special chart that follows this discussion.

The reported baptized membership of this congregation decreased steadily from 1940 to 1960. This decrease was -9.7% in the 1950 decade. There was a slight increase in 1961 only to be followed by a declining pattern again.

The number of communicants likewise decreased from 1940 to 1960. Between 1950 and 1960, this decrease was -47.5%. Since 1960, the communicant strength has remained practically stationary.

The reported church school enrollment fell rapidly in the 1940's and continued to decline in the 1950's. Between 1950 and 1960 this decline was -53.1%. Since 1960, the church school enrollment has remained virtually the same.

From 1961 through 1963 there were 27 persons baptized and 20 persons presented for confirmation in this congregation. These figures represent 6.5% and 4.8% respectively of the communicant strength of the congregation. These ratios are higher than the diocesan figures of 3.9% and 4.1% and may be compared favorably with the national ratios of 5.5% and 5.8%, respectively.

From 1961 through 1963 the total reported expenditures of St. Ambrose's Church were $17,572.00. Of this amount, $1,505.00, or 8.6%, was spent for missionary work outside of the local congregation. The diocesan figure is 14.9%.

JWT:sc
PH-39
P.8

Expenditures per communicant during this three-year period amounted to $42.34 for the congregation and $73.71 for the diocese. Extra-parochial expenditures per communicant during this time were $3.63 at St. Ambrose's and $10.45 for all Episcopal congregations of the Diocese of Pennsylvania.

DISCUSSION AND RECOMMENDATIONS

ST. AMBROSE'S CHURCH, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

For many years this congregation has provided a full cycle of Catholic worship in this portion of the City of Philadelphia. The neighborhood has been changing for the past 15 years. The Church Self-Study Form reports that the area is deteriorating and that there is an increase of delinquency and crime. It is estimated that the population loss is as high as 15%.

The parish report submitted for this Survey sees the basic problems facing the congregation as being a drastically dwindling potential membership, continued removal to other parish areas, and financial support. The baptized and communicant membership of this congregation have shown a declining pattern since 1940. A percentage of 6.5% and 4.8% of baptisms and confirmations to the communicant strength, which is higher than the diocesan average, shows that the parish leadership is making an attempt to reach outside of itself. While 93 baptized members were removed from the parish list in the last five years, it is significant that 75 baptized members were added.

The membership distribution pattern shows that St. Ambrose Church is primarily reaching south and east of itself. The three census tracts immediately to the north of the church contain no reported members. Of 253 persons located on the membership map, some 56% lives in the same census tract in which the church is located. A total of 77% of the mapped membership lives in the parish area.

Activities and programs in the congregation are minimal, and participation by the members is low. There is no Every Member Canvass and the average pledge per communicant is only $21.82 annually. The diocese has increasingly contributed to the salary of the vicar. Calling is done by the vicar alone and he averages some 24 calls a week for all purposes. There are no church road signs and publicity is minimal. The congregation is reported as not being community-minded, although several organizations use the parish hall, and the church sponsors a P.A.L. activity besides three Scout Troops.

The present vicar has been at St. Ambrose for 13 years. In addition to his parochial duties, he has been directing studies for the Diaconate and tutoring for the priesthood in the diocese during the past five years. His interests lie in teaching and he has a background in classical languages.

It is the opinion of the General Division of Research and Field Study that the future growth and usefulness of St. Ambrose's Church lie in the development of a different type of program and ministry. The Church Self-Study Form also appears to recognize this in that it indicates that a possible team ministry with nearby congregations might be developed.

It is recommended that a three-year trial period be established during which time the ministry of St. Ambrose's Church would be one of strong emphasis on outreach into the surrounding community. Diocesan authorities would, of necessity, be involved in the development of such a program. Since the present vicar has pedagogical talents, he might like the opportunity to change his field of work, and a man of urban-work orientation could be placed in charge of the congregation. In that the present and past history of this mission has been one of Catholic worship, this trend should probably be continued, in addition to the development of a neighborhood program. Since there are two other Episcopal congregations not far away, the development of a type of team ministry should be considered.

The congregation of St. Ambrose's Church should have the the benefit of a stewardship education program to emphasize proportionate giving looking toward tithing. The 1960 median family income in the area surrounding St. Ambrose's Church ranged from $5,200.00 to $5,900.00, and it is probably higher than that now. If the reported 141 communicants of the parish were to pledge a minimum of $50.00 a year, the total of the church pledges would be increased one third. There is opportunity for this mission congregation to assume the responsibility of a larger portion of its financing without much sacrifice. If the 66 families in the parish were to tithe 10% of their income, the budget of St. Ambrose's Church would be approximately $25,000.00 a year.

There is much evidence of the faithful and devoted work done by this congregation over the past years. Now, because of changing conditions, it may be necessary for the emphasis of the congregation to be somewhat changed. This should not be taken as any discredit to past labors, but should be recognized as a necessity in a changing world. Members of this congregation who are interested in Catholic worship will understand that devotion at the Altar should be translated into witness in the streets. Our Blessed Lord came not to redeem a chosen few but to save the entire world. Whatever St. Ambrose's Church can do to assist in this primary work should be done with Christian willingness and joy.
